

Silent Witnesses From Neolithic Period to the Seljuks

Rezan Has Museum brings you together with the struggle of the communities against the nature, their daily lives, worlds of faith, social and commercial relations and even the instruments they developed to contend with death during the civilization process of human which began approximately nine-ten thousand years ago; in short you will meet the silent witnesses of the previous civilizations.

In the exhibition, besides displaying the works pertaining to various civilizations that has settled in and around Anatolia between 7500 B.C.-1500 A.D. chronologically, they are also exhibited thematically within their own historical processes with seals, medical tools, arms, figurines and idols, weight and measures, lighting tools. In the exhibition, a bronze bathtub, bronze surgical instruments with inlaid silver dated back to 1st century B.C.-1st century A.D., painted tools from two thousand B.C., Urartu pins, obsidian arrow heads, harnesses for horses, devotional sculptures, oil-lamps, and terracotta sculptures may be seen besides the authentic works that have never been exhibited before.

Ahu Has, Museum Director, states that they are aiming at presenting a historical period thoroughly with works covering a broad period from the Prehistoric Age to the Seljuk Empire and with a view of sharing the works of leading collectors of our country that have not been exhibited before, they provided an opportunity to meet Halûk Perk Museum collection which is open to only academic works with its audience through this cooperative work.

The “Silent Witnesses From Neolithic Period to the Seljuks” exhibition displaying as of March 23 will sail away the visitors to a colorful historical journey from the Haliç Shore to Anatolia and other civilizations.

REZAN HAS MUSEUM

Kadir Has Cad. Kadir Has Üniversitesi

Cibali

Tel : 212 5336532

Visiting Hours:

Everyday 09:00-18:00

For more Information :

F.Sanem Bay (RHM Communication) sanemb@rhm.org.tr 212 5336532